Race and Cruise Report...

By Greg Krutzikowsky

Our next Cruise event is a trip up to Toledo for the summer festival on the weekend of July 25-26. The festival actually runs July 23-26. Toledo puts on an outrageous fireworks display and the docks have prime viewing. The river trip up to Toledo is a fun and interesting cruise and it is well worthwhile having a chart aboard to ensure you stay in the channel. Timing the trip with the tides makes it quicker and helps ensure there is plenty of water under your keel.

Another upcoming event is the Harvest Regatta at Fern Ridge Reservoir sponsored by the Eugene Yacht Club. Looks like they are having class championships for Santana 20s and Viper 640 Pacific Coast at this regatta. The regatta is the weekend of August 15-16. Anyone interested in racing in the event may want to register early to save. More information on registration is available at https://www.regattanetwork.com/clubmgmt/applet_registration_form.php?regatta_id=10751.

Summer series on Yaquina Bay is well underway and anyone who wants to race should make sure they submitted their Wednesday Series entry form. It only takes one form for all three series. Skippers that have not done so already should look at their schedules and pick the dates they would like to take their turn as committee boat. Sign up is online at a link near the bottom of Wednesday Racing Series page. Please sign up. Chase boat is another great opportunity to get out on the water too. Don't forget about the BBQ at the clubhouse afterwards.

This is prime sailing season so get out on the water and enjoy it!

Tom McNamara's brother has come into possession of 2 survival suits, and would like to give them to an appropriate person. All he asks is the cost of shipping. They are Helly-Hansen, and appear to be unused. They were given to him by a friend who had them for a sail across the Atlantic. I don't think they look like neoprene in the photos, so I don't know if they are truly immersion suits. The first one appears to be unused. Contact Tom if you would like further information: mcentm@msn.com.
